About Anita's Choice

We are all defined by the choices we make. The Lowcountry's own Anita Pollitzer was no exception to this rule. She made bold choices that shaped her legacy and improved the lives of the next generation's women. Anita dared to be more. In her spirit, this six-grain bourbon whiskey was specially crafted for those who choose to be great.

About The Distillery

Our story begins long ago, when tales of folklore were passed as truth. The elusive mystery of Burnt Church Road in Bluffton, South Carolina is the reason why we are here. We believe the story of why the Lowcountry road was given such a polarizing name should become transparent. Our hope has always been and will continue to be to honor our past, learn from its mistakes, and push forward for a better future.
